

COLLABORATIVE TOOLS

As you spawn new businesses, the need to rapidly establish an HR infrastructure without raiding the talent of parent organizations is imminent. Overall cost pressures are forcing you to identify new methods for cutting administrative expenses. As new competitors enter the market, particularly those with lower labor costs, your profit margins are put at risk, prompting you to examine closely all activities where cost reduction is possible.

Primeone provides the leverage of cost base and experience of an outside provider, to potentially lower the cost of delivering HR services, while maintaining or improving service levels. We can help reduce the risks associated with business volatility. Having gone through numerous hiring/layoff cycles, we can help to increase process capacity without commensurate increases in full-time headcount. With the right blend of cost, service levels, experience and economies of scale we allow you to move away from administrative activities and focus on more strategic issues.

Primeone has the potential to transform your ability to manage human capital in more ways than one.
